

RELIAQUEST GREYMATTER FOR ENDPOINT DETECTION AND RESPONSE

Reduce the noise, focus on behaviors, and remediate threats faster

The Endpoint is the NEW Perimeter

With digital transformation, the use of cloud application services, third-party business applications, and bring your own device, the perimeter has dissolved. To get between a user and their application, the new perimeter is the endpoint itself. Endpoint Detection and Response allows an enterprise to get a deep set of forensic details on each host for quicker threat detection, analysis and containment. EDR increases enterprise visibility and results in faster recognition and remediation of threats.

ReliaQuest GreyMatter

ReliaQuest GreyMatter, the first SaaS security platform, delivers security confidence. ReliaQuest helps organizations gain greater visibility across SIEM, EDR, multi-cloud and hybrid environments — regardless of vendor or data location—to speed detection and response, and leverage validated content and benchmarking to continuously improve the effectiveness of all their security investments. With GreyMatter, customers see fast, measurable results, including a 400% increase in threat detection within the first 90 days of going live.

Maximize your EDR investment with ReliaQuest GreyMatter

Increased Visibility

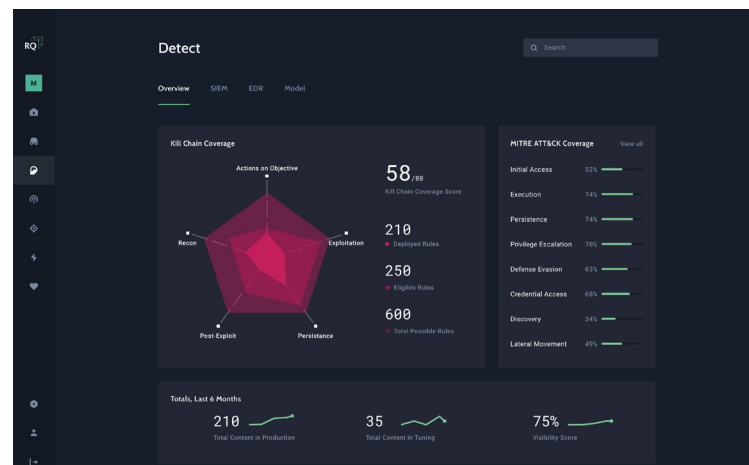

- Universal translator collects and normalizes data, on demand, directly from EDR and other sources, such as SIEM, cloud providers, and third-party apps in one, unified view.
- Alert level automation providing all initial artifacts an analyst needs to start at the investigation stage and skip data gathering across multiple tools.
- Understand EDR health conditions proactively such as, server health, sensor health, and agent saturation ensuring optimal performance and no disconnect in visibility or processes.

Confident Action

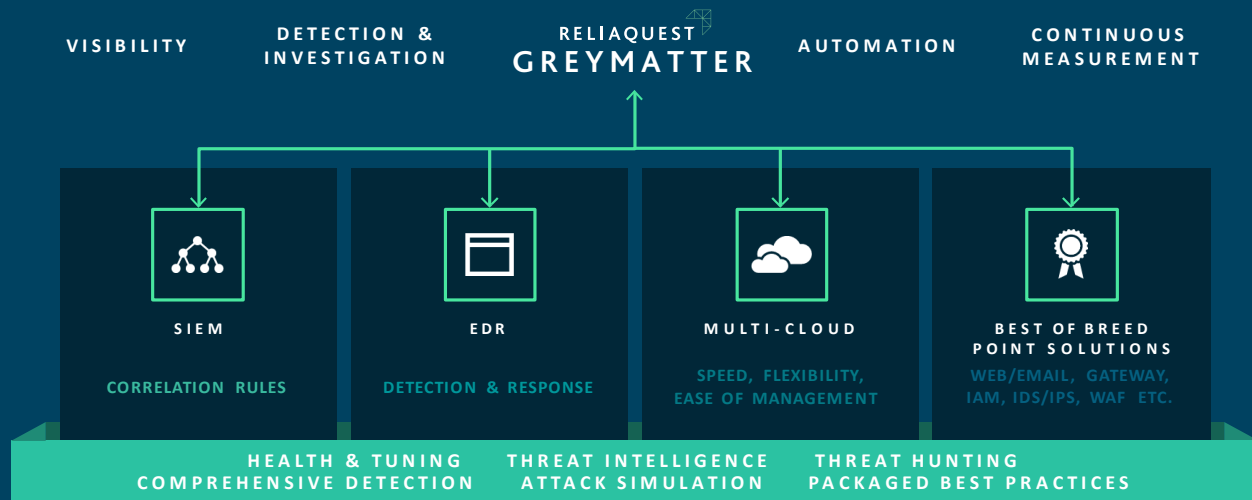

- The behavioral threat feed mapped back to MITRE ATT&CK®, NIST and other frameworks providing higher alert fidelity.
- Decreased false positives with continuously developed, tuned and updated content.
- Respond faster across devices by kicking off pre-built playbooks such as, isolating a host, banning a hash, and removing malicious files.

Continuous Measurement

- Test security controls through automated attack simulations, identifying where the gaps are and prioritizing remediation based on highest risk to the business.
- Measure improvement in visibility, tool efficacy and maturity of your teams and processes benchmarked against past performance and industry peers.

HOW IT WORKS

ReliaQuest GreyMatter maximizes the effectiveness of your EDR by providing visibility and integration across your security toolset. With visibility and higher fidelity tuning and detection content, customers decrease false positives and automate across the security lifecycle to speed response.

Accelerate EDR Time-to-Value

ReliaQuest GreyMatter maximizes the effectiveness of your EDR by decreasing false positives and speeding time to decide with automation across the security lifecycle. With a foundation from tuning and custom content, GreyMatter layers on proactive threat hunting and automated attack simulations to continuously improve security posture. Custom behavioral IOCs produce higher fidelity alerts across all devices within your organization. Proactive threat hunting campaigns across your security ecosystem drive better abnormality detection, effectively showing “known good” vs “known bad.” Customer-specific policies based on applications, software and business use cases define enforcement levels for any assets or compliance requirements tailored to any and all operating systems. False positives are reduced through continual tuning of the environment, and exclusion of known good, which results in a reduction of false positives of up to 60%.

ReliaQuest GreyMatter leverages a combination of your EDR technology alongside other sources in your security ecosystem to deliver security confidence. Security confidence comes from true visibility, automation across the security lifecycle and Board-ready continuous measurement.

- ▲ ReliaQuest EDR customers average 78% reduction in EDR alert volume in the first 6 months

To learn more about ReliaQuest GreyMatter, please visit us at <https://www.reliaquest.com>.

☎ (800) 925-2159

🌐 www.reliaquest.com

✉ info@reliaquest.com